Ergonomic Adjustable Seat Cushion

Model SUPTEC01

Congratulations on purchasing the SupportTech™ Seat Cushion. Your SupportTech cushion features an easy-to-use valve system to regulate air flow and provide ergonomic, adjustable, body-conforming support. Your cushion is topped with memory foam that conforms to the shape of your body for personalized comfort.

To customize your SupportTech Seat Cushion, follow these simple steps.

1. To fully inflate your SupportTech Seat Cushion, locate the "PRESS" indicator over the air valve on the cushion and press down. This will open the air valve and allow air to fill the cushion. Hold the button down until no more air is entering the cushion. Your cushion will now be fully inflated.
2. To personalize your seating comfort, place the cushion on the seat of your chair with the "PRESS" indicator facing down. While seated, press on the air valve to release air until desired seating comfort is achieved. As air is released from the cushion, it will begin to conform to the shape of your body.
3. Once you've found your desired seating comfort, release the button. The valve will close and seal in the air that remains in the cushion.
4. To change or adjust the personalized comfort setting, re-inflate the cushion. You can not be sitting on the cushion while attempting to re-inflate. Stand up and press the air valve to allow maximum amount of air to fill the cushion. Follow steps starting at #2 to re-adjust to personal comfort setting.
